A Valentine's Wish

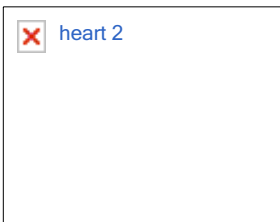

Ever have a Valentine's wish? Maybe some quality chocolate, flowers or even a gourmet dinner at a top flight restaurant you didn't have to cook or pay for? This year I respectfully ask that you join in my Valentine's wish. Many of you know Barclay Gebel with Concrete Strategies. Barclay's wife Stephanie is the daughter of Ram's great Jack Snow. Their daughter, Raquel, has a rare and incurable illness called "Wolfram's disease". They have launched a website www.snowmanfund.com in order to receive donations to raise $125K before April of this year to sponsor the 2011 Wolfram Clinic at Washington University. Children will come from around the

Fact of Steel

Epoxy coated rebar is being used in the construction of the One World Trade Center in New York City. When completed, this building will be the tallest in the United States, standing at a height of 1776 feet with 105 floors. There will be 2.6 million sq ft of office space, an observation deck, restaurant, parking and broadcast facilities.

Steel Watch

After the $170/ton hike in steel prices so far this winter, the mills have announced no increase for February! Look out for another increase as the harsh winter has taken scrap supplies to new lows, not to mention the looming spring demand for steel on the horizon.
