Heath Bleckler 15 Years!

Heath has performed all important tasks over his 15 years. He now serves as our day shift foreman. He has performed everything from shearing and bending to welding and layout. His dedication is greatly appreciated.

Many times we write on ways to effectively do business in this economic climate or highlight a good cause looking for forum. However, this month, we want to take the opportunity to announce our 17th year in business. Many of our clients have been with us since day one. The ultimate compliment to our business philosophy, FAST, FRIENDLY, FLEXIBLE service. We value our customer relationship as well as our employee's commitment. It hasn't been easy for any of us the last few years but we're still here. We must be doing something right.

We truly hope you'll celebrate this landmark with us as there is not a lot of companies taking the time to acknowledge their longevity in this difficult economy. Whether a customer or supplier, we look forward to aiding in your success and making 2011 a move forward. We'd love to hear your best ASFI story and we may feature it in a future newsletter. I'll bet there are some good ones out there! Here's to the next 17!

Scrap prices are up $15/ton for June. The steel mills have raised pricing by $20 to $30/ton to offset this increase. Scrap prices for July are supposed to be higher as well with the mills surely increasing their pricing if this continues.

Fact of Steel

Construction employment for May increased by 2000 jobs. This is the fourth consecutive month of increase but overall in the last 14 months construction jobs have only increased by 4,000 total jobs.
